How Can Peer Correction Help English Learners?

S06E16 | For teachers to adapt to their learners

Purpose

Peer correction can make learners listen more closely, notice language patterns and take more responsibility for accuracy. It works best when the teacher sets a supportive tone and still checks the final answer.

Try this in your next lesson

Let the learner finish.

Our suggested routine

☐ Let the learner finish.

☐ Ask classmates what they noticed.

☐ Invite a suggestion, not a judgement.

☐ Ask the original speaker if the new version keeps the meaning.

☐ Confirm the accurate form.

☐ Let the original speaker try again.

After the attempt

What worked? What needs another model or a smaller step? Note one change for next time.

Read the full explanation and examples:
howtoenglishpod.com - S06E16 article