

What Do English Learners Wish Their Teachers Would Do Differently?

S06E20 | For teachers to adapt to their learners

Teaching focus

Ask learners which content feels useful, when feedback helps and which activities they can remember or use afterwards. Their answers give us another perspective on the lesson alongside our own observations.

Our suggested routine

1. One thing that felt useful today was...
2. One thing I am likely to remember is...
3. One moment that interrupted or confused me was...
4. One thing I need more practice using is...

After the attempt

What could learners do? What needed another model or a smaller step? Choose one useful adjustment and try the task again.

Notes for our next lesson

Read the full teaching article and listen to the episode at howtoenglishpod.com